1. History of the Falcón Family:

In 1747 the viceroy of Spain who was ruling Mexico sent José de Escandón "el Conde de la Sierra Gorda " to settle along the Rio Grande then known as el Rio Bravo. Three settlements were made in 1749 by the time they made all the preparations and trip. Captain don Blas María de la Garza Falcón settled la Villa de Camargo on the 5th of March 1749 where the Rio de San Juan joins the Rio Bravo, with 97 families, 637 persons incluyen the captain and the army (tropa). Accompanying this expedition came the priest Padre Fray Juan Bautista García Ramírez del Apostólico Colegio de Guadalupe de Zacatecas " por misionero destinado a la instrucción de los indios".

Since all the land belonged to Spain, later Mexico, when the water ran low in the San Juan river, they crossed the Rio Grande (Bravo) por pasture and they settled the ranch of "Carnestolendas" on the north side of the river, now Texas. It was later named Davis and then Rio Grande City.

b.1875

On the Falcón side they were all Roman Catholics. Even my father, a 7th. generation born on Texas soil, remained a Catholic, although he never attended their services and did not oppose my mother sending us to the Methodist Church. Since he married by the Methodist Church, he could not have had a Roman Catholic burial. When he died in 1950, my father, Antonio de la Garza Falcón, was buried by the Methodist Church.

2. My mother, Elida García was born in Guerrero, Tamaulipas which had been established also in 1749 and named Revilla after the vice-roy. She lost both her father and mother when she was 10 years old. But her sister Rosaura, 7 years her senior, had married a Methodist minister, Pedro Grado, and my mother made her home with them after her parents died. Since the work both in Mexico and the U. S. was 1 conference, he was appointed to serve in Durango and Chihuahua where my mother attended the Methodist schools, Colegio McDonald and Colegio Palmore. It was at the latter that Miss Nannie Holding (for whom Holding is named) met her and because Elida was very talented in music and was finishing her studies at Palmore that year, Miss Holding brought her to the Laredo Institute (now Holding) so she could study English and also music with Miss Holding's sister, Miss Lilia. These two were like a second mother to Elida and from them she acquired her "straight laced" precepts of what was right and what was wrong with no in-between.

When the Rev. Pedro Grado was appointed to Rio Grande City, Elida began teaching school at a ranch "El Sauz" where she met Antonio and they were married (against the wishes of her sister)because Antonio was Catholic) but her brother-in-law Rev. Pedro Grado married them.

They had 3 children: Clotilde born June 11, 1908; Alfredo born Aug.17,1916 and Eugenio (deceased) born Sept. 2, 1923.

Elida's conrtibutions to the church have been as translator of many hymns; the program books for the Woman's Division for many years; much religious poetry for church magazines and periodicals;articles. She was a leader in the local church, from S.S. teacher, to president of the board. She was instrumental in getting the Woman's Div. in opening kindergartens in Rio Grande and the Valley.
